Bulk is modern interpretation of traditional maritime and industrial wall lighting. The conical face projects light out into the space whilst also creating ambient light spill onto the surface which it is mounted. This robust aluminium body protects the led light source from the elements whilst not compromising the quality of light it creates. Produced in either textured sand cast or precision milled aluminium in a variety of finishes, Bulk is a versatile light that can be used in a variety of residential and commercial applications, including wet loations.
