

Iittala Leimu

Lamp 380x250mm grey

Designer Magnus Pettersen's Leimu was inspired by modern architecture, specifically the combination of concrete and glass. Pettersen wanted a beautiful interplay of warm and cold elements in what Pettersen called "industrial luxury." The largest Leimu lamp makes a striking impression. Created to resemble a flame, the streamlined design features a delicate mouthblown glass shade and a solid, concrete base. Achieving the right balance between concrete and glass required the best experts at the Iittala Glass Factory. Smooth to the touch, the handmade Leimu lamp reflects a soft, gentle light that warms any interior. Grey adds casual sophistication. A modern classic. Winner of the prestigious iF design award.
